

NCCN Clinical Guidelines for Histiocytic Neoplasms

The National Comprehensive Cancer Network® (NCCN®) - an alliance of leading cancer centers - announced the publication of new NCCN Guidelines® for histiocytosis. These clinical practice guidelines provide the latest evidence and expert-consensus for diagnosing and treating the three most common forms of histiocytosis in adults: Langerhans cell histiocytosis (LCH), Erdheim-Chester Disease (ECD,) and Rosai Dorfman Disease (RDD). Future guidelines for Malignant Histiocytic Disorders and Pediatric Care are currently being developed.

Instructions:

- 1 Bring this document to your providers.
- 2 Open phone camera and point it at the QR code
- 3 Click on treatment by Cancer Type > Select Histiocytic Neoplasms
- 4 Create a free account to view the clinical guidelines together

www.histio.org

info@histio.org

+1-856-589-6606